

OLDER ADULT FIELD CAPABLE CLINICAL SERVICES

MEETING THE OLDER ADULT IN FAMILIAR SETTING TO INCREASE MENTAL WELLBEING

Field Capable Clinical Services for Older Adults (FCCS) are specialized clinical services delivered by a multi-disciplinary treatment team of mental health professionals and paraprofessionals specifically trained to work with older adults.

FCCS offers services to help with recovery. The multi-disciplinary treatment team brings mental health services to a location convenient to the older adult client. Some FCCS clients may be unwilling to receive services in traditional mental health settings due to the stigma associated with mental illness. Services will be provided in locations in the community, such as the offices of a primary care physician or in their homes.

The goal of FCCS is to improve access to specialty mental health services for older adults who are unable to obtain services in traditional mental health settings due to impaired mobility, fragility or geographic limitations.

POPULATIONS SERVED:

Persons ages 55 and above who are at risk of serious mental illness or impairment because they are in danger of losing or not attaining a life goal.

Persons ages 55 and above who have a severe functional impairment in their ability to complete activities of daily living.

REFERRALS:

Clients are referred by the community at large, including: Local Mental Health Clinics, Primary Care Settings, Homeless Shelters and Older Adult Residences, Hospitals, Religious Organizations and Senior Centers.

The Team will provide clinical assessment, medication support, mental health services, crisis intervention, and linkage to community services.

FEES:

Fees are assessed based on ability to pay according to a sliding scale. Gross income and family size are taken into consideration. Medi-Cal and Medicare are accepted. Medicare HMO is excluded
